If a friend came to you and confided feelings of depression and failure, you would do everything in your power to change their outlook by pointing out their accomplishments, reminding them how many people loved and depended on them, and generally building their self-confidence. You would encourage them to look past previous mistakes to concentrate on the lessons learned.

Unfortunately, we are not always as kind to ourselves. We find it hard to focus on our own good points and are seldom as forgiving of our own errors. Next time you feel down, treat yourself like a good friend and give yourself a pep talk! It is certainly better therapy than focusing on flaws and punishing yourself for past transgressions.

Thomas "Tommy" J. O'Connor of Suffolk, Va., was in town on Labor Day, according to Hortense Pratt. He is semi-retired from his work as a potato broker.

The Sunday School program has resumed at the Wayland United Methodist Church. Sunday School starts at 9:30 a.m. for grades one through six as well as junior and senior high. All children and youth are welcome to attend and organizers add "we would love to see you there."

It is time to check your magazines to see what new ones you would like to take and which old ones need to be renewed. The WCS junior class starts the annual magazine drive this week and a student will be calling on you very soon.

Mark Robinson is a freshman at Indiana State University where he has been informed he'll be a member of the baseball team. The 1987 WCS grad played soccer, basketball, and baseball for four years but acceptance to a Division II school team is quite an accomplishment. He would love to hear from friends back home and his address is: Sandison Hall, Box 515, ISU, Terre Haute, Ind. 47809.

The staff of St. Joseph's School recently extended "sincere thanks" to Sister Concetta Mitrano for seven years of dedicated service to the children and people of the parish. Friends and former students can write to her in care of Sr. Concetta Mitrano SSI, Sisters of St. Joseph, 4095 East Ave., Rochester, 14610.

Next week's Friends Unlimited meeting will be a discussion and on Sept. 30, there will be a pot luck supper.

Call 335-3103 is you want information about any of the services provided by H.A.M. (Help for Adolescent Mothers) including the free teen childbirth classes and the on-the-grow classes for parents of one to four years olds. They also need volunteers!

A dozen parents and grandparents participated in a lively discussion with Father Schnacky at the Library Friday. The topic was "Parents Need Love and Attention Too" and some of the concerns included making time for yourself and taking care of your physical and emotional needs as important parts of good parenting.

Reservations and payment must be received by Sept. 25 for the Girl Scout volunteer reunion banquet. Don't wait until the last minute and be disappointed. Reservations must be limited and will be dealt with on a first come, first served basis. Forms are available at the Wayland Library, from Marianne Peterson, Betty Engel, and myself.

St. Paul's fish dinner is this Friday with serving from 5 to 7:30 p.m. at WCS. Delicious homemade pies will top off your dinner!

The next meeting of the United Methodist Church Haunted House committee will be at 7:30 p.m. at the church Sept. 23. Anyone over 16 who would like to participate is welcome.

Preventing alcohol use and abuse by reaching young people and those who influence their attitudes and behavior before they face intense peer and societal pressure to drink is the goal of the national "Be Smart, Don't Start" campaign. Campaign materials include a music video. For additional information, call 1-800-527-2966.

If you are soccer fans, the WCS girls will play Dansville there today (the 17th) and the boys will be home against Leroy on Friday.

The next "House of Mirrors" Reflections on Parents and Family Life will be Oct. 5 at St. Joseph's School cafeteria. The four-part series asks the question "Do movies, like literature, reflect life as it really is today?" There was a time when going to a movie was a planned and controlled event that occurred outside the home but with VCR's we bring them into the home which tends to be a sanction in itself.

Mother Nature has begun her fall color show and this year promises to be exceptional. Everyone tends to wait for the "peak" time but often a solitary tree glowing in the sun just takes your breath away. Enjoy each change for soon they will all be gone and winter will be upon us.
